Looks good. Just a few edits in the attached. Let me know if those work for you. Again feel free to tweak any last things. Once I hear back from you we'll probably have a version that's ready for me to send to Julie.

Thanks so much!

Chris

Riffing on what you wrote. Does this make sense:

I think we understand each other. My main point is that there is no clear statement that the build scenario looks at the whole of I-270/I-70 connectiveness (or if this is stated or implied somewhere, I'm not seeing it). I'm just wondering if the travel demand model is taking into account both the I-270 main improvements and the I-70 connection in the same future year scenario

Hi Greg,

That's a good, interesting and complicated question. I don't believe we got a very direct answer on this. If I remember it was a verbal conversation when we discussed the topic.

I'm happy to pass along your question to Julie. Ultimately that would be a question for her to think about.

Thoughts? Thanks,

My main, or only, comment has to do with this being a separate analysis from the I-270 main project. Did we get a satisfactory answer on this, or was there reasoning I don't remember?

Aside from that, there isn't much to comment on that I can see.

Hi Greg,

Just doing some planning for the day and wanted to check-in on the I-70 East ROD 2 air workplan. Do you think you'll have comments? I just want to plan enough time to take a read through and ask any questions I might have before we have to get them to NEPA by COB. I hope all is well!

Thanks,

Chris
